First Aid and Accident / Incident procedures

SupaJam Education in Music and Media meets its obligations to provide "adequate and appropriate" first aid facilities by the provision of first aid boxes in every teaching space. SupaJam also has several members of staff who are First Aid trained across both bases.

These members of staff are named on several posters around the college. When an ambulance is called to SupaJam Education in Music and Media, it is invariably staffed by fully trained paramedics, who will take charge of the situation, at which time responsibility for the patient passes from SupaJam Education in Music and Media to the paramedics.

Parents/Guardians/Next of Kin of the patient will be advised as soon as possible. There is no requirement for a qualified first aider to travel with the patient to a hospital, however, if the patient is distressed, a first aider or a colleague can travel in the ambulance and assist with registration on arrival at the hospital if they are not required at SupaJam.

Head injury

If a student suffers a head injury or head trauma parents/guardians/next of kin must be notified immediately and the college should seek advice from 111 however minor the injury may appear. Staff must also alert a member of SLT as soon as possible. A member of staff will stay with the student at all times; wherever possible, this will be a first aider. Staff will ensure that the injured individual is responsive and offer a cold compress. With any head injury staff are required to look out for the following signs.

- any loss of responsiveness

- scalp wounds
- dizziness or feeling sick
- loss of memory of events before or during the injury
- headache
- confusion.
- increased drowsiness
- loss of balance and difficulty speaking or walking
- vomiting episodes
- double vision
- seizure
- deteriorating level of response
- unresponsiveness
- blood or blood stained watery fluid coming from the ear or nose
- unequal pupil size.

If any of the signs are apparent then an ambulance must be called immediately and for parents/guardians/next of kin to be notified and updated as appropriate.

We follow guidance from health professionals and never leave an injured student alone unless advised by 111 or health professionals.

Recording an Accident or Illness

All accidents must be recorded, however minor.

A SupaJam Education in Music and Media accident book is kept in the Administration Office in Swanley and Reception area in Canterbury. It must be completed as soon as possible after the injury has occurred. This report will then be filed in a lockable cabinet in line with SupaJam's GDPR policy (please see SupaJam Education in Music and Media's GDPR policy for more information).

Where the injured person is unable to complete the form, First Aid personnel or an appropriate responsible person must complete it on behalf of the injured person, ensuring that full details of the accident/incident have been documented and witness details recorded.
